Annotated input text
The lack of citations in ChatGPT's answers makes it difficult to discern truth from misinformation. We know already that malicious actors are injecting reams of manufactured "facts," and increasingly convincing deep-fake images and videos, into the internet—that is to say, into ChatGPT's present and future learning set. Because ChatGPT is designed to answer questions, it sometimes makes up facts to provide a seemingly co-herent answer.
+
Nodes
Lack of Citations
Difficulty Discerning Truth
Malicious Actor Activity
Prevalence of Misinformation
AI Hallucination
LLM agent
System Instruction 3
Gemini 2.5 Pro
Edge extraction
Fuzzy Cognitive Map
Difficulty Discerning Truth
Lack of Citations
AI Hallucination
Malicious Actor Activity
Prevalence of Misinformation
0.8
0.8
0.6
0.7
0.5
0.9